

Valco Donates to the Red Cross

As you may remember from our December newsletter, Valco decided to make a donation to our local Red Cross chapter as a meaningful way to say Thank You to our customers and associates. This picture shows Eddie Leventhal, president of Valco, giving Mike Larson, president, of our local Red Cross, the “thank you” check. This was presented to Mike at the Salvation Army where the Red Cross had partnered with to open a shelter for those who were homeless during the recent frigid weather. This community partnership provided 25-30 men safe, warm sleeping conditions as well as three warm meals a day during this terrible weather period. Presenting the check during this time of crisis at this location just confirmed that we had made a very good and meaningful decision that may just have helped to save someone’s life.
